Workshops in Atlanta and Memphis!

Dr. Carol S. Batey, Ph.D.

I am currently writing a book on how to rewrite your script after a divorce. My "Rewriting the Script: After Divorce" workshop is designed to help individuals who wish to move on after a break-up. My own 21-year marriage had many challenges as well as much happiness, as any marriage is bound to have. One of the best medicines for life is to look back and forgive yourself for past regrets. Forgiveness, letting go and learning from each situation are the only ways by which you will be able to move forward. You may choose to review and rewrite your past experiences in order to discover new, positive outcome. In my life, I have chosen to claim responsibility for my actions and freely let go negative emotions. I will be holding a workshop on April 14 at Unity of Nashville on this topic!

Writing with the Infinite Spirit has been updated and the new version is available online to buy. I was inspired to write this book because my students were constantly asking me if they should ask God for assistance when writing their projects. I told them yes and began to write down their questions and my answers. These questions and answers are the basis for the book.

Those who attend my workshops will learn how to tap into the inner wisdom of God and use that wisdom when writing their projects. They will learn how to set aside the time necessary to complete their projects and will learn the ins and outs of traditional and self-publishing.

I attended Carol's "Writing with the Infinite Spirit" workshop on Sunday, 25 Mar 2012, at the Unity Church in Nashville, TN. Driving there, I did not know what to expect because I was following up on an invite as published in the Tennessee Tribune newspaper. I even wondered if this was some sort of spiritual retreat. Once there, the light was bright, I felt very welcomed, and the atmosphere was inspiring to all.

Carol possesses a unique energy that motivates others in immeasurable ways. This workshop was educational, "audience-involving" and it allowed me to reach within and extract the buried beauty. As she pointed out, each of us wear a mask that limits our prosperity. She went further by passing the mask around and having each person admit the particulars of the mask worn that stunts our growth. The knowledge poured during Carol's workshop overfilled my cup and my advice for future attendees: be prepared to accept it all.

Filled with "Infinite" vigor as I drove home, I thought about the direction of my writings, subject for additional work, marketing techniques and information sharing. I thought about ways to aid others in "releasing their mask" of limitations. Throughout this week, I have been restless, absorbing refreshed ideas and settling into a renewed me. I am still very pumped and hyped, to say the least.
